Train to Comply with Regulations

Keep up with regulatory changes and learner preferences

The Challenge:

Training needs to address the latest regulatory and ethical standards while accommodating employee learning preferences. Only then can an organization confidently protect itself from reputational damage and enforcement agency action. In our shifting regulatory landscape, it is critical that training is agile enough to keep up with the fluidity of legal requirements and expectations. Training must be timely, relevant and accurate to capture the intent of the law in a way that resonates with employees', their roles and their responsibilities.

The Solution:

Scenario-based stories illuminate how, why and where existing and emerging ethics and regulatory obligations apply to employees in ways that are actionable throughout their daily decision-making processes. Expressed through familiar characters and situations, content should resonate with and challenge learners to not only understand the word of the law but to see how the implications of the law apply to their behaviors and workplaces. NAVEXEngage™ is the market-leading ethics and compliance scenario-based training solution that provides legally defensible training that changes employee behavior to protect your organization's people, reputation and bottom line.
